

SALINE VALLEY SAUCE.

Sorghum is ready to be cut. The ground is in good condition to be plowed for the fall grain. Farmers are backward with their hay, on account of the unfavorable weather. Prairie chickens, quails and rabbits are awaiting in abundance the smell of powder.

At the junction of the Saline river and Happy Hollow creek fish are so abundant that, by stooping, they can be caught with the hand.

HOPEFUL.

CASTLE ROCK RIPPLES.

The "boom" has certainly struck school matters in this district. The attendance at the annual school meeting in former years has been from three to five. At the meeting on August 11 there were eighteen voters present. It was decided to build a new frame school house, and a location was chosen more nearly in the center of the district, which, by the way, is eighteen miles long and six broad. The building is to be 16x20 feet, and fitted up with patent desks. A building committee was chosen, consisting of Messrs. S. Bingham, W. F. McAdams and D. F. Matter, who have drawn up specifications, and are prepared to receive bids for the contract.

GOVE COUNTY CLEANINGS.

OVER THE COUNTRY.

Millet and sorghum are heavy crops. The weather is making buffalo grass hay. A. Fick shipped his first car-load of steers.

Haying is now the rage with stock farmers. Van Smith has resigned as postmaster, after serving almost four years, in favor of Samuel Till.

According to present indications, Gove county will add 100 well-to-do and energetic people to her population this fall. School sections are very prolific in raising little board shanties, and they disappear like a mushroom as soon as the appraisers see them.

Well, we should smile. We will take the coffee, but we never quarrel with "infants." We know the ear has a hard time to make people believe there is such a place as Buffalo Park, and we thought we would help him. Our remark was all in kindness.

Represents Northern Feeling.

Leavenworth Times.

Whatever may be thought of the remarkable utterances of Senator Sherman, there can be no denying that he represents the feeling to-day existing throughout the north where the knowledge of the means by which the solid south obtained its present political control is understood and appreciated. As Mr. Sherman intimates, if the Republican party had never wavered from the sound doctrine contained in the constitutional amendments there would not now be the humiliating spectacle presented of a party in power administering the government who but a few years ago attempted to destroy it.

The Great Re-union—Official Records.

Topeka Capital, 12.

The commissioner of pensions has sent 10,000 postal cards for distribution at the re-union, designed for use in perfecting an official record of the surviving soldiers and sailors of the late war. The cards are printed in blank on the back for names, rank, date of enlistment, present residence, etc., and on the face bear the address and official frank of the commissioner of pensions. In a letter of advice, it is requested that they be supplied to those at the re-union with a request to fill out the pension office information that may be of great value in adjusting claims for pensions. These cards will be on the ground at the re-union, and it is earnestly requested that every soldier and sailor present will fill out his card and drop it in the box prepared for it, that this important and full official record of the survivors of the great war may be made full and complete.

Captain Knight, corresponding secretary, has the matter in charge, and it will doubtless have careful attention.

Will Butler Show Him Up!

Kansas City Journal.

We do not know that the report that Gen. Butler has concluded to take legal charge of the president is entirely correct, but it is quite evident that Mr. Cleveland is in great need of a legal guardian, and it would be eminently fit that Butler should manage the proceedings.

The president of the United States should not be tolerated in his systematic attack on the business affairs of the people. In the East thousands of men have been thrown out of employment, and in the West hundreds of cattle men have lost thousands of dollars, and all on account of the incompetency, inexperience and ignorance of the present administration. In the United States the president is expected to behave himself, at least as well as ordinary citizens, and if it becomes necessary to adopt legal means we shall not object.

The enormity of the outrages on private property rights will never be properly appreciated until the injured parties show fight and exhibit the facts in their true light. It is a strange thing, but it is nevertheless a fact, that people in a republic will bear more official outrages and grumble less than the people in the strongest despotism.

Long since we insisted that the president had no moral or legal right to destroy or even injure the property of citizens by an arbitrary act of authority based on his own judgment or even the opinion of his servicable attorney general.

The acts of the president and his secretary of the interior smack too much of despotism, and we have only been surprised at the extremely weak policy of the cabinet.

It is not for the president to use the law for purposes of tyranny and oppression, and if he insists on forcing legal construction for his own purposes his office is not big enough to prevent citizens of the nation from seeking protection in the courts, and we venture the opinion that Gen. Butler knows exactly how to handle such cases.

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical cure of SPERMATORRHOEA or Seminal weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, induced by self-indulgence, or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of self cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.
